Girl Guides Honor Mrs. Borden

The Coleman Girl Guide Association entertained on Wednesday, Dec. 4, in honor of divisional commissioner Mrs. R. P. Borden. Members of Blairmore, Bellevue, Hillcrest and Lundbreck associations attended, together with the Guiders of the division.

The evening opened with a get-together sing-song under the able leadership of Captain Yuill, who also directed the new style card game. While a little bewildering at times, if noise is any indication of enjoyment, this game was a great success, the prizes going to Mrs. Padgett and Mrs. Caravona, both of Bellevue.

Refreshments were served by the First Coleman Rangers, Mrs. Borden's own group of girls.

Mrs. Morgan, of Blairmore, on behalf of the Crow's Nest division, presented Mrs. Borden with a fitted travelling case. Deeply touched by the expression of goodwill, Mrs. Borden thanked the ladies and wished the division every success.

Another pleasing event was the presentation of the warrants by the commissioner. Mrs. L. Morgan, district commissioner's warrant, Coleman and Blairmore; Mrs. F. Utley, district commissioner's warrant, Bellevue, Hillcrest and Lundbreck; Mrs. W. Williams, Brown Owl warrant; Mrs. L. Morgan, Brown Owl warrant; Miss R. Morrison, divisional secretary warrant. A thank-you badge in acknowledgement of her services as quartermaster at Rock Lake camp was presented to Mrs. Westworth.

Mrs. J. Gillies, secretary of the Blairmore association on behalf of the visitors moved a vote of thanks to the Coleman association. The evening closed with the singing of "God Save the King."

A number of Coleman people spent many an anxious hour on Monday evening wondering if any friends or relatives residing at Coalhurst had been the victims of the mine explosion there. Three relatives of A. Balloch of The Journal office escaped, one being singed and bruised. There names were John Ramage, sr., and sons John and William. John Cook, father of five small children, who was a victim of the explosion originally came from Crosgate, Fifehire, Scotland, and is well known to several Coleman people.

There is business today, but advertising must wait for it.

Our Christmas Edition

ADVERTISERS desiring space in the special Christmas edition should advise us as early in the week as possible. This will have colored cover, and special feature stories of the district. Already orders for extra copies have been received, and in order to ensure subscribers getting additional copies if desired, telephone 209.

Copies will go all over Canada and to other countries. Business houses would do well to see that their ads. or Christmas announcements appear.

School Holidays

Schools will close on Monday, Dec. 23, and re-open on Friday, Jan. 3. This is in accordance with the ruling of the Schools Act, and must apply despite the efforts of trustees to have the schools close on Dec. 20.

Bellevue Girl Guides

The Girl Guides held a social evening in the community hall on Tuesday. Games were played, in which the mothers took part. Mrs. H. Henderson, guider, presented Mrs. R. P. Borden, of Coleman, with a diary, and wished her bon voyage on her journey to England. Mrs. Borden, in reply thanked the guider and Guides. Mrs. Borden the district commissioner leaves shortly with her husband for England. A dainty supper was served by the Guides and Rangers, and the evening ended with the singing of "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow." Mrs. F. Utley, of Bellevue, will be the acting commissioner during Mrs. Borden's absence—Enterprise.

Dr. and Mrs. Borden and family will leave on Friday's train. Dr. Blair, a graduate of Toronto University, will assist Dr. McLean during Dr. Borden's absence. Dr. and Mrs. Blair for the present are staying at the Grand Union hotel.

Co-Op Celebrates Birthday

Coleman Co-Operative celebrated its first birthday anniversary on Sat. Dec. 7, when a monster cake was cut and distributed among the customers. It weighed 60 lbs and was made by Coleman Bakery, who made a very good job. It had five layers, all nicely decorated, in fact it looked so nice it seemed a shame to cut such a fine example of the baker's handiwork. All the Co-Operative's customers agreed it was surely delicious, and they are looking forward to the second birthday to get some more cake.

SANTA'S ASSISTANTS

The following from the Point Grey (B.C.) News-Gazette answers two questions: First, how will I keep my boy busy, he is so restless? Second, we can't afford to give new toys so what can we give this year?

Local Scouts Aiding Santa.—The 29th Rover Crew under the leadership of W. Burgis are conducting a Scout Toy Repair Shop in Point Grey. In this effort they are supported by the Point Grey Scouters' Council. Residents in the Kerrisdale, Dunbar and West Point Grey areas are asked to co-operate with the boys in this worthy effort of bringing happiness to some child at Christmas by having any old and discarded toys, books or dolls ready when a scout calls. You will be doing your part if only one toy is given. These toys will be taken to the Scout Toy Shop and be completely overhauled by Scouts and Rovers before being passed on to some child in need.

ROCKEFELLER OIL AND PEACE

There are those who will say that the talk about Standard Oil making a private contract to supply Italy with oil for thirty years regardless of league or U.S. actions on sanctions was started by those who are jealous of the recent publicity received by Mr. Rockefeller when he announced that in the future his gifts for religious purposes would be for general uplift purposes rather than sectarian. Others say that if the thirty-year contract is true it won't take church and peace societies long to boycott Standard Oil products sufficiently to offset any profits made in a war. Many are hoping that negotiations helping perpetuate may yet make Mediterranean arrangements satisfactory to all concerned. It would be cheaper from a cash standpoint alone.

LIE DETECTORS

2 Things That Combat Colds Like Magic!

Ask Any Doctor . . . Then Follow Simple Directions Pictured Below. Quickest, Simplest Way

1. Take two "Aspirin" Tablets. Make sure you get "Aspirin."

2. Drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

Instead of using fancy priced "cold remedies" try the new-day cold treatment pictured here. Your own doctor will approve it. It will start easing the average cold or sore throat almost as fast as you caught it. The "Aspirin" you take will start combating your cold internally at once; if throat is sore, crush and stir 3 "Aspirin" Tablets in a third of a glass of water; gargle twice. Do not rinse mouth.

● "Aspirin" Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

A Tense Situation

As the Italo-Ethiopian war progresses, and with economic sanctions imposed by the great majority of the members of the League of Nations gradually tightening, the situation in Europe becomes increasingly grave.

The danger of what, a few months ago, appeared to be little more than a colonizing venture of Mussolini in North Africa at the expense of one of the black races, developing into a world conflagration of even greater magnitude than the Great War of 1914-18 with far greater losses and more fearful consequences to civilization seems more imminent with the lapse of time.

While incidents reported from Europe indicate almost daily fluctuations of the situation, there can be no gainsaying the fact that once again all Europe is an armed camp with all nations breathlessly watching the trend of events and the more powerful ones ready to assume the offensive or defensive as circumstances may require or politico-national exigencies may warrant.

One day despatches contain news which reveal a dreadful maelstrom into which the nations are being sucked willy-nilly, with or without their desire. Two or three days later the news is more assuring. The crisis of the moment has been bridged. People breathe a little more easily and await the next hair-raising development, reasonably sure that it will soon appear.

And so it goes from day to day. A situation develops which brings tension and alarm. Omens are uttered. Diplomats hastily exchange notes and conversations, threats are withdrawn or modified or "explained". The tension eases. The peril has been averted momentarily at least, but the black shadow remains and will continue to exist until it is either dispelled entirely or becomes a terrific substance.

It hardly seems conceivable that when Mussolini put his threatened invasion of Ethiopia into execution he could have been aware of what was to follow. He must surely have assumed that the League of Nations would be split asunder when its members were faced with the question of carrying out their obligations to prevent or punish invasion of territory of another member or that some of the stronger members would be willing to put a telescope to a blind eye rather than fulfil their duties and run the risk of precipitating a situation which might lead to a general conflagration.

If that was the viewpoint of the dictator of Italy he guessed wrong. If he thought he could bluff the dominating powers of the League, again he guessed wrong. It would have been the easy way out for the League to have begged the question to prevent or punish invasion of territory of another member or that some of the stronger members would be willing to put a telescope to a blind eye rather than fulfil their duties and run the risk of precipitating a situation which might lead to a general conflagration.

The peril lies not so much in the mere fact that the League has imposed economic sanctions and is making them effective but in the possibility of some of the members weakening in the face of threats, or of abandoning the position they have taken because of danger from other quarters or because it may become advantageous to do so.

And Mussolini himself is in a dire predicament. He has now gone too far in his adventure to recede without imperilling his position among his own countrymen. In fact, recession would spell disaster for him at home. On the other hand he cannot expect to carry his campaign to a successful conclusion with a great majority of the nations cutting off his supplies, but defeat in Ethiopia would terminate his career as Italian dictator. On the horns of this dilemma, it can be assumed that Mussolini will have no stone unturned to disrupt the accord which exists among the nations who have combined in imposing punitive measures against him.

Mussolini unquestionably knows that there is unrest against British rule in India and Egypt and that the Moroccans and Tunisians would welcome an opportunity to throw off the French yoke. If by stirring up trouble in these countries he could divert some of the energies of these two great powers into other channels it would be of distinct advantage to the Italians.

For it is quite conceivable that the outbreak of strife in these countries would be the precursor of troubles and warfare in other countries and might develop into the long-prophesied conflict between the Christian countries of the world and the nations which bow their heads to Mohammed.

While it is difficult to forecast what combinations might result from a split in the ranks of the nations now engaged in preventing the culmination of Italy's act of aggression, because of the many diverse interests involved and the ramifications interposed among them, the situation is fraught with peril which may well cause apprehension even among many peoples who at the moment appear remote from danger.

May Grant Privilege

Australian Women Likely To Act As Jurors In Courts

Before the year closes women might be acting as jurors in Australia and also sitting on the bench. The minister of justice of New South Wales, L. O. Martin, has promised to introduce a bill to give women that privilege.

They would not be presiding magistrates, but act as assessors do in industrial courts. They would be permitted to express to the presiding magistrate, with becoming brevity, it is hoped, their opinions on the cases.

The desire to do this has long held a place in the thoughts of women who are active in public affairs, and they are bent upon translating ambition into fact. The children's court is their first objective. They claim that they are better qualified to deal with young children than the ordinary magistrate. The children's court, however, deals with cases of youths aged 18 years, as well as with younger ones, and even women advocates admit that a man is better able to deal with some older juvenile offenders than a woman.

They argue, however, that a woman's presence, coupled with a word in season to the man presiding, might be beneficial. Past and present magistrates do not all agree with that opinion. There are women justices of the peace, of course, in Sydney. Certain ardent feminists ask why they should not sit on the bench, but not even male justices of the peace sit on the bench in Sydney. It is said in quarters most familiar with the working of the courts that they never will.

Alberta Rhodes Scholar

Mark McClung, Son Of Canadian Author, Receives Award

University of Alberta Rhodes scholar for 1935-36 is Mark McClung, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McClung, of Victoria, formerly of a Rhodes and Winnipeg. The new Rhodes scholar's mother is Nellie McClung, the noted Canadian author. Award of the scholarship was made known recently.

A student in honors philosophy, Mr. McClung's campus career was marked by brilliant scholastic success. He has been at the University of Alberta for five years and during that time has taken active part in student affairs.

The new Rhodes scholar expects to leave for Oxford in the fall and intends to spend three years overseas. A brother, Jack, solicitor in the provincial attorney-general's department, brought a similar honor to the family on conclusion of his career at the University of Alberta by winning the I.O.D.E. scholarship which enabled him to spend a year in the Old Country.

Savings Deposits

Have Increased Almost A Million Dollars During Past Year

Savings deposits in Canadian chartered banks on Oct. 31 amounted to $1,465,401,708—almost $100,000,000 more than on the corresponding date in 1934, according to the monthly statement of the banks to the department of finance. There was $21,600,000 increase in deposits since last September 30.

Current account deposits also showed a marked increase, being up $25,000,000 in the month and more than $800,000 as compared with Oct. 31, 1934.

Deposits outside Canada were up about $6,000,000 in the month and more than $60,000,000 in the year, accounted for in a large measure by the increasing deposits of currency other than Canadian in Canadian banks, which are shown in this column.

Current loans in Canada were down some $15,000,000 in the month and $40,000,000 less than a year ago, while call loans were also down.

License Fees From Radio

Amount Received From Owners About Same As Last Year

Collection of license fees on radio receiving sets during the current fiscal year has been running about on a par with last year when the total revenue from this source was slightly less than $1,500,000. Beginning with the fiscal year 1932-33 the fee has been $2 for each receiving set. In spite of the depression and the fact that radio receivers are no longer as popular as they once were, collections have been between 90 and 95 per cent, complete, officials at Ottawa said.

Cost of collection has been about an average of 15 cents for each $2 license with a general overhead of 5 per cent.

Inaugurates New Service

Japanese Department Store Has Opened Free Marriage Bureau

Not content with merely imitating the merchandising practices of the West, a large department store in Osaka, Japan, has instituted a new native service for customers. A free marriage bureau has been opened in the store. There men and women who desire to marry may register and furnish pertinent information about themselves.

Marriage in Japan usually is arranged by families, rather than by the individuals concerned, through go-betweens who receive a commission for their services. The new bureau will take over the work customarily done by the go-between.

There is a business reason for the establishment of this free service. The couples who meet through the bureau will purchase their wedding outfit at the store.—New York Times.

Radio Inquiry

Parliamentary Committee May Hold Investigation

A parliamentary committee may be established when the house meets in January to investigate radio broadcasting in Canada, particularly the administration of the radio commission. It was learned recently.

It was understood every phase of broadcasting would be probed including the possibility of regulating broadcasting by a general manager instead of a commission of three.

During the campaign Mr. Macdonald King took exception to certain broadcasts under the name of "Mr. Sage" and promised reform of broadcasting regulations to stop abuse of public men. It is probable the "Mr. Sage" broadcast will be investigated.

No Substitute For Butter

It Is A Concentrated Energy And Heat Producer

Butter is one of the foods which has been widely used for many centuries, but whose true nutritional merit has only recently been brought to light, according to Laura C. Pepper, of the Dairy and Cold Storage Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture. Recognizing the importance of adequate amounts of fats in diet and the valuable contributions made to health by butter, modern scientists uphold the generous use of this superior fat.

Palatability and high food value are the two qualities which earn for butter the distinction of being "the fat for which there is no substitute." Fats recommended for their tasteless properties hold little or no interest for the woman who prides herself on her cooking. She knows it is butter that makes cream sauces look and taste so rich; it is the butter used in cakes and cookies that evokes praise from friends; and, similarly, it is butter that insures excellent flavour and colour in many dishes prepared for the family table.

As for food value, butter is a concentrated energy producer, yielding 2 1/2 times as much heat in the body as the sugar and starch foods. This is a strong argument in favour of using plenty of butter, particularly during cold weather when the body requires extra heat. Butter is easily digested and readily and completely assimilated by the body; it contains small quantities of lime and phosphorus, and in addition has a high vitamin content which distinguishes it from other fats. It is an exceptionally good source of Vitamin A, which builds up resistance to disease and promotes normal health and growth. Butter is also one of the few foods which provide Vitamin D—the sunshine vitamin—so necessary for the development of bones and teeth.

Now Linked By Wireless

Loose Island Of Grand Cayman Connected With Jamaica

An island paradise where time for centuries has stood still, heard a belated warning of the march of progress, when wireless communication was established between Jamaica and Grand Cayman, one of her dependencies.

Lying about 300 miles northwest of Jamaica, Grand Cayman is the "whitest" island in the West Indies, more than 4,000 out of a total population of 5,000 being from English stock. Many of the original settlers came to Jamaica about the time Charles II. was put on the throne, and when his governor began to make trouble for them here, they moved to Grand Cayman. Others are descendants of English pirates and shipwrecked seamen who were the terror of the Caribbean more than 200 years ago. Piracy that brought uncertain rewards was abandoned for the easier trade of wrecking—luring ships ashore by false beacon fires.

A religious people, they habitually played ships would be caught on the coral reef bounding the island, and a story is told how a congregation who ran out into a storm to foot a wreck were hailed by the person: "Brethren, wait for the benediction, and let's all start fair."

But to-day the Grand Caymans are described as the happiest and most law-abiding people in the world. So peaceful have they become, it is said the only sin they commit is in dropping their h's.

Until Governor Sir Edward Denham of Jamaica formally opened the wireless service, the only communication with Grand Cayman was by boat.

Plan Designed To Halt Italy's Campaign In Ethiopia

Paris.—Premier Laval of France and Sir Samuel Hoare, British foreign secretary, reached complete agreement on a plan designed to halt Italy's campaign of conquest in Ethiopia.

According to authoritative sources, the plan embodies the following proposals:

Ethiopia should cede most of Tigres province and all of Ogaden province outright to Italy, and should also grant to Italy a colonization zone comprising all remaining Ethiopian territory lying south of the eighth parallel north latitude and east of 36 degrees east longitude.

The so-called colonization zone would remain under nominal sovereignty of Emperor Haile Selassie but would be administered by Italy, probably through the medium of an Italian resident governor acting as "counselor" to the king of kings.

In return Ethiopia would receive an outlet to the sea either through Asab, Italy's Red Sea port in south-east Eritrea, or through Berbera, British Somaliland's chief harbor situated on the Indian ocean coast.

Ethiopia also would get a strip of territory forming a corridor to which- ever of these ports would be turned over to it. It further would retain Asmara, its Coptic Christian holy city in Tigre province, now occupied by Italian troops.

So-called Amharic Ethiopia would remain independent, but would receive economic assistance from the members of the League of Nations. Italy would play the predominant role in this assistance plan, inspired by a proposal advanced some time ago by the league's committee of five.

The Hoare-Laval peace project falls short of Italy's known demands in one significant respect: It fails to award a territorial link between her two East African colonies, Eritrea and Italian Somaliland.

The plan will be forwarded to Premier Mussolini with the understanding he will have to choose one of three alternatives.

1. He must accept the proposal as a basis for peace negotiations.

2. If rejected, he must suggest what would be the least Italy would accept to end the campaign.

3. Unless one of these two courses is adopted, the rigid embargo on oil to Italy will follow.

Not For Defence Purposes

Huge British Loan Is To Retire Other Obligations

London.—It was authoritatively stated that the funding loan which was successfully subscribed soon after its issue could not be devoted to defence purposes. It was specifically earmarked for the retirement of other obligations.

In some quarters, however, it has been suggested that the cleaning up of the money market by the present funding operations would simplify the flotation of a defence loan later.

(Previous reports were to the effect that part of the £300,000,000 loan might be used for defence purposes. Haves said it had learned from a high admiralty source "that in the event that no agreement was forthcoming from the naval conference here some of the proceeds would be used for the building of three new battle cruisers.")

Reports of an impending huge defence loan for months off and on have been a handy device by certain stock exchange interests to whip occasional flagging business.

Official assurances that there would be a substantial increase in the defence forces naturally stimulated interest as to where the money was coming from. But far from satisfying public curiosity the government hitherto has declined to reveal even the extent of the new armaments. The appearance of the new funding loan revived conjecture on this point.

D. Leo Dolan, Director of the Canadian Travel Bureau, who was elected President of the Canadian Association of Tourist and Publicity Bureaus, at the annual general meeting at Ottawa.

To Collect Taxes

Ontario Government Will Take Steps To Recover Succession Duties

Toronto.—Employment of informers to aid the Ontario government in its collection of succession duties, corporation taxes and other treasury levies was predicted by Premier Hepburn as he announced an additional $350,000 in succession duties had been recovered from the estate of the late Harold F. Ritchie.

"I warn these estates," said the premier, "that we will not tolerate any attempt to escape making proper contributions to the province. In future 100 per cent. penalties permitted under the Succession Duties Act will be enforced. In addition we are considering paying people who supply us with information respecting evaders."

Any arrangement of this kind, Mr. Hepburn added, would be patterned after the existing federal legislation.

Larger Wheat Acreage

Despite Governmental Efforts To Reduce Acreage This Year

Ottawa.—Wheat acreage increased in Canada this year despite government efforts to reduce it. It was reported by the Dominion bureau of statistics. Under the world wheat agreement, Canada undertook to reduce exports and discourage increased acreage through educational methods.

A substantial increase was shown in the estimated area sown to principal field crops this year which totalled 55,645,160 acres against 55,037,820 in 1934.

Wheat occupied the largest individual area with 24,115,700 acres, compared with 23,955,000 last year. Oats were next with 14,098,200 acres compared with 13,739,800 in 1934, and barley third with 3,586,800 acres against 3,612,500.

Brought High Price

Chicago.—"Pat's Blue Ribbon," the grand champion of the 1935 international livestock exposition, sold at auction for $3 a pound, giving his 19-year-old owner, Cleo E. Yoder, of Wellman, Iowa, a total price of $3,195.

Hepburn Cancels Power Contracts With Quebec Companies

Toronto.—The Ontario government proclaimed its Power Act, cancelling power purchase contracts with four Quebec companies, after a conference with representatives of the companies failed to reach an agreement. Further negotiations, it was announced, would be delayed until after the Dominion-provincial conference this month.

An order-in-council was passed following the futile negotiations in Premier Mitchell Hepburn's office, proclaiming the act which was passed at the last session of the legislature. The cabinet conferred for some time and decided the offer of the companies for revision of contracts was "altogether unsatisfactory."

Further negotiations for purchase of power it actually required, pending definite settlement of the question, will be carried on by the Ontario hydro electric commission.

The Hepburn government, which came into power in the summer of 1934, held power contracts with the Beauharnois, McLaren, Ottawa Valley and Gatineau companies to be illegal. The contracts were arranged by the hydro electric commission during former Conservative administrations.

Prolonged negotiations between the government and representatives of the four companies followed passage of the Power Act early this year.

These ended when Premier Hepburn said the companies had failed to submit "any offer which was possible of acceptance."

He held company representatives the question of future purchases of power, "on the distinct understanding that no more power will be purchased than is actually required," would be referred to the hydro commission.

No power is now being received by the commission from Beauharnois, McLaren or Chats Falls and a limited amount of approximately 85,000 horsepower is being taken from Gatineau on the primary demand and about 113,000 for steam generation purposes.

The power companies, faced with the threat of cancellation of their contracts to supply power, were unable to agree on a combined offer. Beauharnois, McLaren and Ottawa Valley joined in one offer and Gatineau made a different offer on its own behalf.

Attorney-General Arthur W. Rucknagel assured questioners that no power shortage would result from the Ontario government's proclamation of the Power Commission Act, cancelling power purchase contracts with four Quebec companies. Should the Gatineau company cut off the power it now is supplying the hydro commission, it would make no difference.

Intends To Retire

Premier Of Ontario States His Decision Still Stands

Toronto.—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario came home from a health trip to the south, determined to carry out his plan of retiring from politics after the 1936 session of the Ontario legislature. He spent the last month in Florida and will return there after the Dominion-provincial conference.

Bronzed and feeling much better after his four weeks rest, Mr. Hepburn was hopeful that the improvement in his health would continue, but that wouldn't alter his decision to quit politics. His decision to retire as premier and leader of the Liberal party in Ontario "still stands," he said.

Economic Recovery

Hon. Vincent Massey Gives Cheerful Picture Of Dominion

London.—Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian high commissioner to London, gave to the Canadian Club a cheerful picture of a Dominion well on the road to economic recovery.

Sir Edward Peacock, native of Glasgow county, Ont., and widely known in London financial quarters, presided at the meeting.

The progress of Canada during the last year "has been steady and unbroken," said Massey. "Nearly all the important features of economic activity, such as bank, business, exports, car loadings, the use of electrical power, custom revenues, contracts for construction—all these indicate uniform improvement."

Ambrose Small Estate

Inquiry In Connection With Disappearance Of Theatrical Magnate

Toronto.—A thorough investigation of the estate of Ambrose Small, theatrical magnate who disappeared 16 years ago and is believed by many to have been murdered, has been started by the Ontario treasury department, the Mail and Empire says in a news story.

The story continues: "While the inquiry is for the primary purpose of determining whether original payment of succession duties on this estate was all the government was entitled to, it may, according to rumor, be widened to take in other angles."

"Of recent date several mysterious unsigned letters are said to have reached the government, the writers of which charge that scrutiny of papers and documents connected with the estate might possibly throw some light on the disappearance of the theatre magnate."

Shuns Publicity

Dr. Allan Ray Dafe In Britain's

New York.—Dr. Allan Ray Dafe, who came into world renown along with the Dionne quintuplets of Calander, Ont., "crashed" Great Britain's Who's Who of 1936, published recently, but the insertion was in keeping with his modesty.

He recorded of himself: "Practice of medicine as a general practitioner since 1907; in charge of the Dionne quintuplets from their birth."

Warships On Cruise

Two British Cruisers Steam Out Of Gibraltar Harbor

Gibraltar.—The battle cruisers Hood and Renown, two of the most powerful warships in the world, accompanied by four destroyers, steamed out of Gibraltar harbor and into the Atlantic ocean on a "sea-conditioning" cruise.

Authoritative sources in London said their departure from Mediterranean waters had no connection with diplomatic moves to halt the Italian campaign. But informed sources considered it noteworthy that the move was made at a time when Britain and France was redoubling their efforts to evolve a peaceful solution of the controversy.

It Duce, it was recalled, weeks ago demanded withdrawal of some of Britain's home fleet units from the Mediterranean in exchange for withdrawal of a division of Italian troops from the Libyan-Egyptian border.

Mine Worker Killed

Lost Balance On Timber Slide And Dropped 200 Feet

Nelson, B.C.—Joseph Nicholson, 28, Reno Gold Mines Company employee, lost his balance and plunged 200 feet to instant death in the bottom of a skipway in a raise at the Nuggett-Mohrle road property.

Nicholson, with Ivor Chalk and James Ferguson, was working at the head of the skipway. He leaned over the railing at the head of the inclined timber slide to see if a fourth worker, John Ferguson, was ready to receive the next load. He lost his balance, he fell, and died almost instantly.

Nicholson was a native of England, where his mother, Mrs. J. Nicholson, still lives.

ITALIANS FIND ETHIOPIAN COUNTRY TRYING

Our picture shows General Montagna's blackshirts holding one of the outposts at Amba Bat-Palase, near Adigrat, and gives a good idea of the type of country the Italians have to advance through in order to rout Ethiopian armies. Sometimes the Italians are not so fortunate as to capture a commanding position as that shown above, and then the shoe is on the other foot and the Ethiopians fire down on the advancing blackshirts.

Railwaymen Urge Inquiry Into Cause Of Unemployment

Ottawa.—Establishment of scientific machinery to discover primary causes for unemployment and prevailing economic and industrial conditions was urged by a delegation from the Canadian Railway Transportation Brotherhood which presented a nine-point legislative program to the federal government.

Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of railways, and Finance Minister Dunning promises the submission would be given consideration.

It was the annual presentation of legislative proposals from the Brotherhoods of Railway Conductors, Trainmen, Telegraphers, Engineers, Firemen and Engine-men and Maintenance of Way employees. The delegation, which originally had planned to interview Prime Minister King, was received in private.

Chief submissions of the deputations urged:

1. Amendments to the British North America Act to restrict the veto powers of the senate, broaden the scope of legislative competence of the federal parliament empowering it to enact social legislation of general interest and welfare, and if necessary, to deal effectively with the regulation of highway transport.

2. Amendments to the old age pension act reducing the qualification as from 70 to 65 years with the Dominion to pay 90 per cent. of the total cost;

3. Opposition to deepening the St. Lawrence waterways for transportation purposes;

4. Charging of "adequate tolls" for all commercial transport services through canals;

5. National control of motor vehicle transport by a central commission, such as the Dominion board of railway commissioners;

6. Amendment to the income war tax act to provide $400 exemption for all dependent children irrespective of age;

7. Setting up of scientific machinery in an effort to discover primary causes for unemployment and prevailing economic and industrial conditions; continuation of Dominion relief assistance with promotion of program of necessary public works;

8. Representation for labor on public boards and commissions;

9. Amendments to railway act by increasing the grade crossing fund, providing compensation to railway employees for loss of property and minor changes such as providing locomotives should be manned by at least two men.

New Peace Appeal Addressed To Italy By British Spokesman

London.—Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, addressed a new peace appeal to Italy, but coupled with it an assertion that "this appeal is no sign of weakness."

Before a tense and crowded house of commons, Sir Samuel joined this plea, a promise of "another great effort" to end the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, and a renewed pledge to "play our part" in any collective League of Nations action to apply an oil embargo against Italy.

These were the outstanding points of Sir Samuel's speech:

1. Declaring both Britain and the league were pledged in principle to the oil embargo, he said the United Kingdom was "prepared to take our share in whatever collective action is determined" at the league sanctions committee meeting.

2. He told the house of commons Britain and France intend to "redouble our efforts" to reconcile Italy, Ethiopia and the league before that meeting, and appealed directly to Duce and the people of Italy to "dismiss entirely from their minds the suspicion that we have sinister motives behind our support of the league."

3. In announcing support for the projected oil embargo, Sir Samuel said he wished to make it clear "that no one government is any more responsible than another for this collective decision, or, indeed, for any of the sanctions proposals." He did not specifically mention Canada in this connection.

4. Taking cognizance of the North China autonomy trouble, he politely warned Japan that her friendly relations with her neighbors might be endangered by indications of aggression in North China.

Unfortunately events had lent color to belief that Japanese influence was being exerted to shape internal political developments in China. Anything tending to create this belief, could only harm Japanese prestige and hamper friendly relations with her neighbors.

Sir Samuel expressed his regret that Great Britain had failed in an attempt to reopen disarmament discussions with Chancellor Hitler of Germany. "So long as the Ethiopian war is continuing, there is little to be gained by these discussions," he told the house.

"We have no wish to weaken Italy or to humiliate Italy," Sir Samuel told the house. "Indeed we are most anxious to see a strong Italy in this world—an Italy that is strong, morally, politically, socially, and that is able to contribute to the world invaluable assistance."

"I appeal once again to Signor Mussolini and his fellow countrymen to dismiss entirely from their minds the suspicion that we have sinister motives behind our support of the league. We have none."

"Let them dismiss from their minds the suspicion that we wish to drive a wedge between Italy and France. We wish to see Italy and France the firmest friends and we are glad we were able to help in the enterprise that brought Italy and France together at the beginning of this year."

Likewise, he went on, Britain had no desire to weaken the position of Duce, "and destroy the Fascist regime. We have not the least desire to interfere in the internal affairs of Italy. . . ."

NEW TYPE EVANGELISM

The Central Methodist Church of Endicott is trying out a new type of evangelism. Rev. A. E. Bartlett, author of "Happiness Books", will bring messages every night December 1 to 8. The following is from The Endicott Bulletin: "The joy maker's mission is to bring back something of the radiance that was in the early church; to re-create the buoyant spirit that made the early Christians able to overthrow the wickedness of Rome; to lift the standard of the average Christian that he may grow in grace and goodness, giving more gladly and generously of his time, money and love for the work of the church and the kingdom."

LIFELONG GOOD

Athletics do a youth lifelong good. However, an athletic director of Placer Union High School, California, makes sure that the good he is doing those who come under his direction is lifelong. The Colfax Record of November 8th said: "That was a fine compliment which Jim Stewart, the Record's columnist, paid to Earl Crabbe, Placer Union High School's athletic director, in his column last week in telling the story of the mother, who in asking advice said that her boy did not drink and gave credit to the athletic director for pointing out the harmful effects of alcohol on athletes' success."

SUNDAY'S DEATH RAISES QUESTION

Some years ago Billy Sunday (renowned evangelist who died recently) prayed that when death should come to him that it might come quickly. He got his wish—one attack of arm pains—a few hours later a dizzy feeling followed immediately by a quiet slipping away.

Possibly no evangelist has been so greatly praised and so greatly censured as was Billy Sunday.

On the basis that men tend to become like that on which their hearts are fixed many deplored the fact that Billy held up to view a God of wrath who would torture forever those who did not lay claim to the saving grace of Christ.

The other day one of these "deplorers" was overheard to say: "I may not have liked Billy Sunday's methods, but allowing that only 10,000 of his many thousands of converts stayed on the straight and narrow I would like to feel that I had done as much for as many folks and their families when I come to knock on the door that leads to the larger room of life."

The product that is advertised in The Journal is worthy of your confidence.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

WINTER SPORTS occupy the stage front. Hockey renews its grip on Coleman people. It draws the biggest gate of any sport of the year, or any other kind of entertainment. Approximately 900 people witness the first game of the season, even soft ice and the prospect of a slow game not deterring them.

WHY IS IT? The answer is that healthy rivalry and pride in the home town's achievements arouses popular interest, added to which is the prospect of seeing an occasional outburst in more violent form than just playing hockey, for the referee cannot control everything. The female is oft-times fiercer than the male when it comes to a real set-to between players, judging from their shrill exclamations and cries of derision or encouragement.

A WORD ON THE RINK. It appears more attractive, and much accumulated dirt has been cleaned out, so that it holds more appeal than in former years. It is hoped the new lessees will keep up the good standard they have started with, for the rink should be the most popular rendezvous in the winter time, and the more comfortable and clean it is for players and spectators, the more business will it attract. Plenty of light also helps; for as moths fly to the light, so do people gather where there is plenty of light.

THE maelstrom of provincial politics still holds the centre of the stage. Some added taxes or licenses here and there, lopping off other people's revenues to forward the political program of Social Credit, and the dominant faith of William Aberhart that his plan will work, furnish material for news reports and editorial comment.

RUNNING into a snag when he characterized as "piffle" the depatches of the Canadian Press, a Dominion-wide news gathering and distributing agency, and being brought to task by J. F. B. Livesay, its manager, the premier stated he had been "misinformed." The excuse was rather lame, as Mr. Aberhart reads the newspapers and the story he told an Ottawa audience that 25 policemen had been told off to guard him against attempts on his person was really an invention of his own imaginings. This yarn came to a sudden ending.

A RICH man asked Jesus what he should do to enter the kingdom of heaven. "Give all that ye have to the poor, and follow me" was the answer. Premier Aberhart, whose personal appearance suggests plenty in the midst of poverty, believes he is inspired by God to carry out his mission. It is a laudable ambition, and any man would be foolish to ignore the idealism which spurs on Alberta's premier.

BUT in the background lurks materialism, dominant in the great majority. Ask the average man to give up all he hath for an ideal, and he will promptly tell you he'll hold what he has, and not take a chance on giving it away in the belief that a power from on high will take care of him. Manna may have fallen from the skies, but Albertans are not expecting any such miracle. The burning question now is: "When do we get the dividends?" And others are asking: "When will payments on Alberta Saving Certificates be resumed?"

WELL, friends and fellow citizens, 54 per cent of the voters of Alberta voted to give the plan a trial, for the promise of $25 monthly dividend was very alluring. Personally we have already been deprived of the equivalent of the dividend by the Government's action in banning that wicked liquor advertising, so even if we get the dividend in 18 months, we will still be short in purchasing power. Shame, Mr. Aberhart, that you should have so deceived us, and ignored our complaint. But, says Mr. Aberhart in effect, you newspaper fellows opposed me at the election, therefore I'll show you, despite all your arguments. So there you are! We get the hook. Excuse us if we bore you, but this "kolyum" simply has to be filled, otherwise our critics will say we are getting lazy.

THE Calgary Herald hasn't folded up its tent yet, e'en though it occurred the Wrath of Prophet Ali Abie. About three and a half years ago an attempt at boycott was made on this great family journal by our Communist opponents. Usually such attacks act just the reverse to that anticipated by the boycotters. The liberties and privileges of the Press cannot be strangled by any political party. It renders public service to such a degree that only absolutely biased fanatics would suggest destroying it; thereby giving evidence of their own weakness.

NEXT Week we will publish our Christmas issue, so we must keep our thoughts merry merry and bright to harmonize with the bright colors we hope to present. The curtain will soon ring down on 1935. New year resolutions will then be in the air.

'Twas ever thus; empty vessels make the most sound. And some have to talk loudly or they would not be taken any notice of. Some really become a pest with their attempts to appear important.

Mrs. Edgar Reid gave her home on Friday evening for a whist drive under the auspices of the L. O. B. A. lodge. The proceeds will be sent to the Wood's Home for Orphans. There were approximately forty guests present.

20 years ago, according to the Lethbridge Herald items under that heading, Arthur Reid was again in the election for the office of city commissioner. He is the present chairman of Coleman school trustees, in which office he continues to give good service.

Of its own violation, with an estimated annual profit of $90,000 in eight, the provincial government itself drew up the plan which takes distribution of beer out of the hands of the brewery owned selling agency Distributors Limited, according to authoritative reports.

Rialto Pool room billiard and snooker tournaments are narrowing down to the eight. Many keen games have been witnessed, one point on two occasions separating the winner from the loser. Jim Anderson at present holds the high break of twenty-seven in the billiard tournament.

FASHIONS IN GOVERNMENTS

Some people seem to think that because dictators rule several of the nations of Europe that democracy is doomed.

The countries now under the thumbs of dictators are inhabited by people accustomed to being pretty thoroughly bossed by rulers.

But at that conditions are not so wonderful as to cause Germans, Italians and Russians in this country to flock back to the lands of their relatives to enjoy the glorious benefits available.

Dr. Ellis Paxorl Oberholtzer, Philadelphia historian, recently said in an address before the University of Virginia Institute of Public Affairs: "The new tyrants will go the way of the old and take the same place in the history of man's movements on this earth."

About the only strong appeal of the newer governments is in what they intend to do in making the lower classes happy. And yet unbiased travellers tell us that average and below average Americans have more clothes, furniture and luxuries than similar classes of people living under the crack new regimes.

NEW PROCESS FOR CHILD-BEARING

Doctors have, during the past quarter century, been very particular that the conditions surrounding a "baby case" were warm and sanitary. With the best of care difficulties often present themselves.

With this in mind the case of Mrs. Alton Jourdon, of Sanford, N.C., is especially interesting. She stooped over a well. Everything went black. She soon found herself in icy water holding on to a newborn babe.

Her husband, working in a field near by, hearing her cries, rescued her. It is to be hoped that women wanting quick, easy deliveries will not take this too seriously and go jump in a well.

WE ALL WEAR MASKS

Many sad people smile to save their friends distress and to hide their sorrows. Many gay persons try to appear serious too much of the time lest their friends think them frivolous.

In describing Sir John Simon an English newspaper once said: "He aims neither at epigram nor at wit, and displays a chilly scorn of all rhetorical devices. He avoids all exaggeration and over-emphasis. Emotion never breaks through the icy reserve of a temperament naturally under a rigorous discipline."

That item accounts for the news value in Queen Mary's recent statement: "I like Sir John's smile." Although Sir John evidently can smile he may be one who considers that in the matter of smiles as in some other ways, "familiarity breeds contempt."

PREPARE FOR THE PRESIDENCY IN YOUR SPARE TIME

The old copy-book used to say, "In time of peace prepare for war." Nowadays people are adding "and you'll get it." Tony Beckman, six-day bike rider, believes "while you still have one job prepare for another." Tony has been doing this and believes he'll get it. For six years while working at bicycle racing he has entertained other racers between laps by playing on his violin. He now teaches violin in a well-known New York school.

Tony, now Anthony, hopes to some day "conduct a large orchestra" at Madison Square Garden during a six-day race.

Lincoln said: "I will prepare myself and my chance will come." He did, and became president. Have you any spare time?

A radio flash told of a man found on the railroad tracks. On the way to the undertaker's he raised up in the ambulance and said "Where am I?" The attendant said, "You're supposed to be dead, but you'll soon be in jail." He had been dead-drunk.

CHRISTMAS CARDS

Messrs. Lawson & Jones, of London, have sent us several dozen examples of their Christmas cards. All are beautifully designed and printed, and reach a very high level of artistic excellence. It is not often that one comes across productions of this type which are so uniformly good, which give such a wide range of choice, and which at the same time are so reasonable in price. The firm's series is particularly pleasing, and there is sure to be a big demand for these cards during the coming weeks.

50 of these Christmas folders, with name printed thereon, with envelopes to match, $2.50, plus tax.

The importance of a properly made up invoice or billhead cannot be overestimated. See that your stationery properly represents your business and leave your orders with The Journal. Envelopes carry your message to its destination. They are important, and this office can suggest attractive print-

WORLD HAPPENINGS
BRIEFLY TOLD

Admiral Sir Roger Keyes, member of parliament and naval hero of the Great War, demanded that the British navy be made supreme in the world.

Officials at the Zeppelin works in Friedrichshafen, Germany, have announced the new dirigible LZ-129 will be ready for trial flights early next year.

Exchange of a house for a postage stamp has been disclosed. E. C. Berger, Seattle, traded the stamp, of an 1868 Canadian issue valued at about $500, for a small house and lot.

Exports of Canadian bacon during the first nine months of 1935 totalled nearly 100,000,000 pounds with a value of $15,756,171, a gain of about one million dollars over the same period of 1934.

Pretending to be in dire poverty and living in a drab cottage that had neither electricity, gas nor other improvements, Mrs. Ellen J. Ackerman, who died in New York on Nov. 20, left a hoarded fortune of $200,000.

Anxious to register so that they will be eligible for the Social Credit dividend of $25 per month if and when it is granted, scores of single jobless men from all parts of Canada are drifting into the cities of Calgary and Edmonton daily.

President Roosevelt has formally proclaimed the reciprocal trade treaty between the United States and Canada to become effective Jan. 1. The president also proclaimed the treaty between the United States and Brazil.

Carl Jansen, who professes to have introduced stop-and-go lights in England, appeared at the Thames police court, London, accused of having failed to observe a stop-and-go light. Despite a plausible excuse, he was forced to pay $2.50.

William Brown, of Deloraine, Man., president of the Canadian Airsire Breeder's Association, has been re-elected director of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. It was announced. John Richards, Jr., of Red Deer, Alta., was elected director for Alberta and British Columbia.

Praises Trade Treaty

Step in Right Direction Says Sir Edward Beatty

Commendation of the Canadian-United States reciprocal trade treaty was voiced at Thorold, Ont., by Sir Edward Beatty, K.C., who returned to his home-town to address the annual dinner of the Thorold Board of Trade.

"The new trade agreement is a step in the right direction," declared the president of the Canadian Pacific Railways in a postscript to his address.

Increased trade and postponement of large public works where the cost was disproportionate to the direct stimulus given employment were cited as essentials to complete recovery in Canada. Later he said: "I never could see the virtue of trying to destroy because we have found defects in our system. There is no reason to burn down the house because there are a few cockroaches in the cellar."

Mail Was Delayed

Letters Slipped Behind Post Boxes 32 Years Ago

The postal service of Fort Worth, Texas, is pretty efficient, but it has just finished a delivery that was 32 years late. Some letters had slipped down between crevices of old-time rent boxes in the old post-office. Some were so time-worn that they crumbled to bits between the fingers of workmen who were replacing the boxes. But the mail must go through. All that still retained their form were delivered. New boxes eliminate a possibility of the incident's happening again.

Disobeyed Orders

A hired man disobeyed orders and 663 pigs, owned by J. H. Parsons and valued at $800, went to a watery grave in Seven Persons Creek, Alta. The porkers plunged through a hole and went down stream under the ice. The hired man was ordered to chop a hole near the shore. Instead, he went to the centre of the stream.

To prevent bruising of the animals, the inside of cattle cars of the government railways in South Africa will be padded.

More American automobiles are purchased in South America than in any other country in the world.

Friendship is the result of knowing each other well—but not too well.

Utopia Is In Tonga Islands

Island Has No Unemployment And A Smooth Functioning Legislature
A picturesque Pacific island where—
There is no income tax.

Nobody is without property.
There are no poor.
Nobody is illiterate.
There is a simplified smooth-functioning legislature.

It is the Island of Tonga, and its Crown Prince Taufa Ahau, when visiting Melbourne, Australia, for Methodist church centenary, has been telling about it.

"Every boy on attaining the age of 16 is given a grant of 84 acres of land and a village home; in other words the means to make a living among his 30,000 fellow islanders.

In place of income tax, a payment of $10 a year is levied on every male adult, and this entitles him to free medical, dental and hospital treatment for himself and his family. To augment the revenue, there are customs duties and a tax on motor cars. There are free primary schools and two colleges.

Prince Taufa Ahau, not yet 38, is more than six feet tall, and has already won distinction as a hurdler, weight puller and footballer. He is studying law.

Medical Science In Russia

Standard In High Opinion Of Sir Frederick Banting

High praise for the standards of medical science in Russia was uttered by Sir Frederick Banting, discover of insulin, in an address before the Hamilton, Ont., Health Association.

So intensively and efficiently had the nation tackled the problem of tuberculosis, said Sir Frederick that one hardly ever saw or heard of a beriberi tuberculosis patient in Russia.

"Of course," he said, "their problems are not ours." They tackle the disease much earlier. The workers are examined by their factory or trade union doctors and sent to institutions as soon as signs of tuberculosis develop. The result is that you rarely see a case that requires bed treatment."

Sir Frederick, who returned recently from a trip to Russia, also said medical science was keeping pace with civilization. It was not enough to fight disease when it came, but medical science must fight also to prevent it.

Naturalists Baffled

Many Birds' Markings Are On This Strange Specimen

Mother Nature got all tangled up, sportsmen believed, after viewing a strange bird which has naturalists from Lewiston, Idaho, baffled. The mysterious bird of many colors, a hen, bears the markings of a China pheasant, a blue grouse and a large domestic turkey. It is twice as large as a fulgrouse pheasant. The tail is rounded and stunted, like that of a turkey. Around the eyes there is the scarlet mark of the pheasant rooster and the back and wings bear the mark of the Oriental bird. The feathered legs and lower breast are marked like the grouse and the bronze and bars of the gobbler appear on the tail feathers.

Bottle Crosses The Ocean

Dropped Overboard South of Newfoundland Was Found In Scotland

A bottle has crossed the Atlantic—after a "voyage" of nine months. It was found on the coast of North Uist, in the Hebrides, Scotland, by Malcolm Robertson, of Lochmaddy. A message inside asked the finder to communicate with the town hall at Havre and stated a reward would be forthcoming. Officials there have just received a letter from Mr. Robertson. The message said the bottle was thrown into the sea from the liner Lafayette south of the Newfoundland Banks on Jan. 22, 1935.

Elastic Safety Curb

An "elastic" barrier or curb is being tried out at a bend on a steep hill near Frankfurt-on-Main, in Germany, to protect motorists from going over the edge. Two steel ropes are stretched at the height of a car's wheels along the dangerous side of the road and are fastened to iron posts at either end by wire springs. It is claimed that this elastic fence will guide a motor car back to the road if, in rounding the bend, it should go too near the edge.

New Needlework For Your Home

Here's a new needlework pattern that will stand you in good stead both before and after Christmas. Right now, one square knitted in string would make a lovely insertion for a pillow or scarf. Two, joined together, make a dollie. An edging is given to finish the pieces. Then after Christmas, plan to make a bedspread or dinner cloth—you'll find the squares make fine pick-up work. The lacey openwork sets off very effectively an attractive star pattern.

In pattern 5494 you will find complete instructions for making the square and joining it to make a variety of articles; an illustration of a note on all stitches needed; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 20 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg.

There is no Alice Brooks pattern book published

Received Special Permit

Cover On University Of London 210 Feet High

The tower that will dominate the new buildings of the University of London in Bloomsbury, England, will be 210 feet high, 40 feet higher than Nelson's Column in Trafalgar Square, but not the highest structure in London. The Big Ben tower on the houses of parliament is 220 feet high. Yet by London standards the university tower will be something of a skyscraper, and the view from its roof should be magnificent.

Special sanction has been received by the university authorities from the London county council for the erection of a building above the limit of from 80 feet to 100 feet, prescribed under the London Building Amendment Act of this year. Work on the base of the tower has been begun, but the whole structure may not be completed until 1937.

The tower will have eight stories, several of which will be used for storing books for the library. The library will be in the base.

Lloyds Granted Charter

Famous English Insurance Firm Will Operate In Alberta

Lloyds of London, famous insurance firm, has been granted a charter to operate in Alberta under an order approved by the provincial cabinet.

The permission was refused when application was first made last year to the U.F.A. government. At that time, insurance men in the province protested that no bond would have to be posted by Lloyds. The British company will not establish a branch at Edmonton, but will deal through agencies already established, it was stated.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
DECEMBER 15

EZRA TEACHING THE LAW OF GOD

Golden text: They word have I laid up in my heart. Psalm 119:11.
Lesson: Ezra 7:10; Nehemiah, Chapter 8.
Devotional reading: Hebrews 10:19-27.

Explanations And Comments

Ezra's Great Desire To Teach the Law of God. Ezra 7:10. Ezra's primary motive, as we saw two weeks ago, in coming to Jerusalem from Persia, was to see the law more strictly observed by his countrymen.

The Reading of the Law, Nehemiah 8:1-8. The first day of the seventh month is the day which the Jews celebrate as their New Year's Day. On this day in Old Testament times occurred the festival known as the Feast of Trumpets, which was observed with special rites. On this day in the year B.C., the people of Jerusalem assembled in the broad place before the water gate. The streets of Jerusalem were very narrow, just as they are to-day, most of them resembling an alley more than a street. The only spot where a large crowd could assemble would be the broad place, or open square or area beyond the city walls. The water gate was the gate through which the water carriers entered the city with their water from Gihon, or the Virgin Spring, as it is now called.

To that assembly of men and women and such children as could understand, Ezra the priest and scribe read the Book of the Law of Moses. Of just what this book consisted is a disputed question among scholars: the entire Pentateuch, some believe; only the legislative portion, others maintain. He read from early morning till midday—on the feast day they had their customary rest during the noon hour—and all were attentive listeners.

The People Comforted. Neh. 8:12. Nehemiah the governor now comes into the story. He and Ezra, the Levites comforted the people, saying, "This day is holy unto Jehovah your God; mourn not, nor weep." The day was holy because it was the time of the new moon and of the blowing of trumpets (Lev. 23:24), and also because of the reading of the Law. Then he, either Nehemiah or Ezra, counseled them to go their way, eat the fat and drink the sweet (using a proverbial expression meaning, Do not fast nor mourn), and send portions to those for whom nothing was prepared. "Come, eat the dainty pieces and drink sweet wine, and send a portion to him who has nothing ready," is Moffatt's translation.

Death Defying Dive

Ability To Judge A 45-Degree Angle Saves His Life

Red Brady, a recent visitor to Halifax, N.S., never studied geometry, but he says he owes his life to his ability to judge a 45-degree angle. He makes his living by diving 110 feet into five feet of water.

Brady studies his degrees and distances like a professor of mathematics. The tank into which he plunges is 15 feet across and contains five feet of water. His diving tower is 110 feet high. When he climbs to the topmost platform, he has these dimensions in mind. Then he tests the direction of the wind. If it is negligible he forgets it; if it is blowing, he makes a mental estimate of the slight sideways it may give to his falling body. Finally he braces his feet, pauses, and falls forward and down—down in a dive that never carries him more than three and one-half feet below the surface.

At night, because he uses pieces of spectacle-soaked waste to his back, Brady knows that if he miscalculates by as much as 10 degrees, he may never dive again, but he believes that his excellent physical condition will keep him accurate. He doesn't smoke, doesn't drink alcohol, tea or coffee, and never goes to parties.

Educational Worker

Late Edward Best Graduated At Age 72

Edward E. Best, for 47 years an educational worker in Manitoba, is dead, aged 83.

Born in Ireland, Mr. Best came to Canada as a child and lived in Ontario until he came to Manitoba as a school teacher in 1881. For many years he was an inspector of schools. A little more than 12 years ago Mr. Best determined to take a college degree and commenced study at the University of Manitoba, graduating as a B.A. at the age of 72.

A son, Ernest E. Best, is general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. for Canada and is well known in Winnipeg, Regina and other western cities.

Scheme Did Not Work

Cleveland police were talking about a worried motorist who parked his car in a forbidden spot and left a note on the windshield. "Do not touch," it said, "in 10 minutes." When the motorist returned, he found this reply: "Sorry—couldn't wait." There was also a ticket.

An Unscientific Storm

Weather Bureau Experts Were Puzzled By Freak Hurricane

Like men sitting on top of a rumbling volcano, citizens of Nassau, Bahamas, waited last November 3. Seventy miles north, a hurricane had whipped across the sea from Bermuda, and was on its way south. By morning, said leveling Norton, of the United States Weather Bureau, Nassau would get "a pretty good wallowing."

Miles westward the same day, in Miami, Florida, said the Associated Press, "the rain was shining brightly," and a mild wind was blowing. "The next afternoon," not Nassau, but Miami, received the wallowing.

Suddenly changing the course predicted by meteorologists, the storm veered into the Florida spa just after one o'clock, said the United Press. Boats up on land, and snarling phone wires. After a short lull it smashed again, piling wreckage high, killing seven persons, injuring scores.

Chief among those tearing their hair out over the storm, were Weather Bureau meteorologists, whose calculations have been upset twice in the last three months. The storm "had about as much regard for the traditional hurricane route as an American auto-driver who insists on driving on the left hand side of the street," said the United Press. Describing an interview with T. T. Fannin, of the Weather Bureau. The Springfield Republican called the latest storm "not just another hurricane, but a freak of Nature so unprecedented as to set the scientific world agog."

Bacon Exports Up
A Million Dollars

Has Made Strides In Meeting Competition On The British Market

Canada's exports of bacon during the first nine months of 1935 show a gain of about one million dollars over the same period of 1934. Exports of Canadian bacon to the end of September totalled nearly 100,000,000 pounds with a value of $15,756,171 compared with $14,286,700 pounds valued at $14,872,331 in the first nine months of 1934. This increase, amounting to 5,153,500 pounds in volume, was mostly all in the British market, which took 88,435,000 pounds, or 99.4 per cent. of the Dominion's total export.

Canadian bacon entering the British market is sold in competition with the world's best, and in the comparatively short period of four years Canada's position as an exporter of bacon to Great Britain has advanced from ninth place in 1931 to second place in 1934. In addition to supplying the British market with such a large quantity, Canada this year exported bacon to fifteen other countries, including the United States, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the different portions of the British West Indies, the French West Indies, the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, Japan, China, Fiji, Colombia, Peru and Alaska.

Domestic Court For Navy

Established To Settle Marriage Troubles Of British Sailors

The British navy is to have "domestic courts" to aid naval ratings who need advice or assistance for the well-being of their families, and to settle any domestic troubles that may arise.

This decision is announced in Fleet Orders, just issued. Three women have already been appointed to assist in this work and have begun their duties.

Officially, "domestic courts" are called the Welfare and Marriage Allowance section.

The "courts" are to be established in naval barracks at each of the three home ports, Portsmouth, Devonport and Chatham.

Rat Plague In Rumania

Bucharest is in search of a pieper to put an end to the rat plague which is threatening public health. Packs of rats have crossed the river Danube from Russia and have now invaded Rumania, including the capital. The ministry of public health has taken measures to destroy the pest, but the result has been a night, pedestrians walking on Calea Victoriei, Bucharest's main thoroughfare and the street on which is situated the royal palace, experience the unpleasant sensation of tripping over rats which cross their way in thick, brown streams.

Plants that ordinarily grow in soil are being raised by a University of California scientist in tanks of water to which needed mineral salts are added, artificial sunshine also being supplied.

FLEMING'S FOLLY

SYNOPSIS

Here is an absorbing and exciting story of a fight against stubborn prejudice and a bitter personal malignancy of a girl and a man battling, ridicule, sabotage, bullets, and the treachery that would turn them against each other.

The story opens with Link Fleming addressing a meeting of Boone County cattlemen, called together with the object of forming an irrigation company.

(Now Go On With The Story)

Thus, Link Fleming knew that to win Roper to his dream was to spell success. Only Kilgo could swing ranchers into line for irrigation. He was now carrying out his promise of yesterday so that Link could present Soak Torney, the drink-broken civil engineer he had discovered in an Atlas saloon. A mere shell of the man he had once been, he still was as enthusiastic about irrigating barren land as Fleming himself.

"Buzz is a regular fightin' cock," Kilgo grinned at the crowd, putting his arm around young Hamilton. "I'm for him too, 'cause I reckon you all know his sister and me are—Well," he said embarrassedly, "Helen will be back in town purty soon, and maybe then she'll let me tell you about our plans."

"But that's off the track now. I don't go in for fads as you men know, and maybe irrigation is one. Link, let us hear it; reckon that's what you got us about, ain't it?" This was his chance, his long sought opportunity to win the ranchers to his views! He had prepared for this moment for a year. Enthusiasm swept over him as it always did when he pondered the new means of improving the range. His pulse sped faster, and standing at full height before them, he chose his words with care.

"If you men could raise alfalfa to feed your stock winters, and use your home grass in the summer, you wouldn't need to worry whether the government passed rules about the foothills or not."

"We ain't farmers. We're cattlemen!" Buzz snapped.

"Well, something's got to be done, because we're going to be barred from the foothills, and our range is too thin to support steers all year round. Water the waste land that's all around us and you can grow alfalfa enough to feed your beef and

Modern External Treatment Helps End Colds Sooner

Just Rubbed on at Bedtime Its Double-Action Continues Through Hours of Restful Sleep.

OFTEN RELIEVES BY MORNING

Before a miserable cold gets you down, go to bed and apply Vicks VapoRub. Two generations have proved VapoRub the surest help to a milder, shorter cold.

Just rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime, VapoRub acts two ways of once.

1. By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster.
2. By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapors, released by body heat and breathed in direct to inflamed air-passages.

Continuing through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm, soothes irritated membranes—helps break congestion. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

For Fewer and Shorter Colds
Note for your family: Vicks has developed, especially for home use, a practical Plan for Better Control of Colds. This commonsense guide to fewer and shorter colds has been clinically tested by practicing physicians and further proved in everyday home use by millions. may have some left over to sell. The secret is, irrigation! "I've got seventeen hundred acres that hasn't been good for anything. It isn't worth as much as ordinary range, and grass brings only fifty cents an acre. But if I water that wasteland—" He paused impressively. "It will be worth at least a hundred dollars an acre!"

There was a swift exchange of surprised, doubtful, and questioning looks. Kilgo lifted his eyebrow at his friend and henchman, Jackpot Mell. The proprietor of the Half Moon Saloon kept his face a mask but nodded slightly. His lean, wiry fingers toyed with the watch chain of shiny nuggets draped across his flowered vest. Fleming, from the raised position, followed the significant looks and felt a flash of uncertainty. But perhaps it was only his habitual suspicion of the Box 50 owner and his suave cronies, a cold blooded killer.

"By from fifty cents to a hundred bucks an acre is purty long haul," Seth Howland muttered skeptically. "Yeah, and dammin' up water costs money. How do you figure to finance it, Link?" Honest John Mulrooney inquired.

"The Boone County Improvement Association. We'll all buy stock according to the size of our spreads. That will provide capital for the irrigation ditches and dams."

"Well, o' course," Kilgo pointed out, "there's no use to form an association until we've shore the thing'll pay. Way it looks to me, we oughta have the judgment of somebody that knows. Boys, how about listenin' to Soak Torney? Soak's done engineerin' all over the world. He can tell us about Link's scheme, whether it'll work or not."

"That's right, an' an' adroit leadin' up to the winning of the whole throng of cattlemen. 'I figure to go with what Torney says,' Roper went on generously. 'How about the rest of you guys?'

"Why, the thing was now almost a certainty! If Roper endorsed Torney, they others were certain to follow like sheep. With eagerness he tried hard to make Fleming watched the man react.

"Reckon Soak knows plenty about engineerin', at that," Mulrooney conceded. "Buzz, will you go along on whatever we decide to do. How about you, Benson? All right, Link, let's hear the facts."

The Star Loop owner realized that perhaps he had misjudged Kilgo. He was being helpful now, and seemed really anxious to know more about irrigation, which he had previously opposed during the last year. Yes, Link felt he had done the man an injustice. Roper wasn't as bad as he was painted!

The important thing was to seize this advantage. Turning, he beckoned to Torney. "Come on up here and tell us about it. Soak's here as casually as he could manage. 'You're the man knows about waterin' land. We want your opinion.'"

All eyes watched the ragged, unkempt figure of the saloon hanger-on rise from his chair and begin to shuffle forward in his furtive, hanging about. Yes, as apprehension melted into hope, Link felt that Soak was the worse for a recent drinking bout, though he had promised earnestly to remain sober for this meeting. His eyes were lustreless and his whole mien that of a spineless barfly.

However—Fleming shrugged—it was merely Torney's endorsement of a civil engineer that was needed to clinch the support of Boone County ranchers. He appeared sufficiently in control of his senses to give that. Pahaw, what damage could he do even in his present condition?

"What's your idea on this?" Link asked. "Could we build an irrigation plant here?"

The man wet his lips while he blinked self-consciously. "Reckon you can build it anywhere you want."

Roper grinned at him secretly, and nodded. "How much would a proposition like this cost us?" Link went on, drawing him out.

The engineer rubbed his reddish nose as he studied the floor in front of him. "About thirty-five or forty thousand dollars for a starter. You could build part and operate it while you raise more money to go on with the scheme."

"Raise more money'n that? What do you mean? What's the total?"

"Around sixty thousand."

"Several men gasped. 'If you want your land to increase in value I'll take some investment, of course. But if we all chip in it won't be so bad. The thing is sure to be worth while,' argued Fleming.

There was a slight pause. "That's the point," Roper drawled slowly. "Will it be worth while? If it will, I've about made up my mind to go in it. How about you boys?"

He passed from face to face. Several men frowned hesitantly, then nodded. If there were any well-trusted Kilgo's leadership, they feared to oppose it. A few looked grim and several appeared reluctant. But Box 50 owner's declaration, applied to all of them. As usual, they would do what he did, follow him like sheep.

"That's settled then. Me—I'm willin', like you boys, to gamble on Torney's say-so. Should we go ahead with irrigation or stay out? That's the thing in a nutshell. Ain't it, Link?"

"Exactly. Now, Soak," he went on, striving to keep triumph out of his voice, "how about it?"

Torney swallowed hard. He cast a furtive, pleading look at Fleming. His heavy gaze swerved, to hold as if riveted on Kilgo and the cold-eyed Jackpot Mell as he answered in his husky, half-audible whisper.

"You could build dams and raise alfalfa—sure. But it'd be a crazy fool thing to do. Irrigation sounds all right, but it's nothing but a new-fangled way to waste money."

"Torney's said all along this ain't any good," he went on hurriedly. "My advice to you men is to stick to Roper—then you're safe. Why, I wouldn't give two cents for all the irrigation dams an' ditches in the United States."

CHAPTER II.

Silence fell like a blanket over the meeting of cattlemen. Fleming's jaw sagged, and his stunned amazement was mirrored on every face in the throng. For everyone, of course, had fully expected Torney to give emphatic approval. Why, the ranchers who stood blinking before him had been almost won over! Had it not been for this sudden reversal, coming with the unexpectedness of a shot in the dark, the irrigation scheme would proceed to organization with all Boone County backing it.

All eyes fixed on Link. Because he was the originator and ardent advocate of the plan, his reaction was of prime interest. While he stood with an incredulous, dismayed expression on his tanned face, Roper Kilgo glanced again at Jackpot Mell. They both looked as if an instant, they turned their faces front.

No hint of feeling was in their exchange, but deep in Fleming's heart distrust sparkled alive. As positively as if he had heard exultant words between them, he knew why Soak Torney had suddenly changed his attitude toward irrigation.

He must have been reached—threatened or persuaded from his true conviction. Only yesterday the man had been as enthusiastic as Link!

At once his mind began to build on this thought. Roper had always opposed the thing, until yesterday, his seeming friendliness then was the mask of his ruse. That was clear enough now. Perhaps he feared that his leadership, his grip on local cattlemen, was at stake. If Link put this thing into operation he, not Kilgo, would become the chief to whom weaker men looked for guidance. Roper's power would be gone.

Yes, that must be it. Kilgo used this means to kill forever talk of irrigation, in which he did not believe himself. He wanted the subject scotched and he had chosen a means to accomplish this with wily astuteness that did him credit, scowled that he was.

There was a stir in the crowd, "Hub" Seth Howland grunted, "reckon on that's settled. This waterin' business ain't any better than I thought."

"Hold on, boys!" Link looked about for Torney, but realized that Soak had shambled quickly off during the taut, astonished silence. He cleared his throat scarcely knowing what he could say to hold them, to that he was.

He passed from face to face. Several men frowned hesitantly, then nodded. If there were any well-trusted Kilgo's leadership, they feared to oppose it. A few looked grim and several appeared reluctant. But Box 50 owner's declaration, applied to all of them. As usual, they would do what he did, follow him like sheep.

get new evidence of this matter on which he was so earnestly convinced.

Then sudden anger waved over him, and with both fists clenched until the knuckles showed white, he spoke in a low, intense tone. "Somebody's tampered with Torney. That wasn't his real opinion! Why, he's told me a hundred times irrigation would do wonders for us all. We've worked on this thing, drawn up blueprints, even. Somebody influenced Soak, made him say what he did!" he cried insistently. "I tell you men you're going to regret it if you don't irrigate!"

An Expensive Privilege

Player Who Makes Hole-In-One Deserves A Reward

The doubtful privilege of buying drinks for everybody, which used to be the time-honored custom for all golfers playing a hole in one stroke, is being abandoned in London, England, and the pleasure of doing it thereby was minimized.

The ambition of all golfers, a hole in one, invariably cost at least $25 in drinks and entertainment to fellow-players, and the pleasure of doing it thereby was minimized.

It wasn't so bad in pre-war days when whiskey cost less than a dollar a bottle, but now when it sells around $2.50, a hole in one is pretty expensive.

So the Wilderness club, Kent, has decided that the player doing a hole in one shall be entertained to a meal with full liquid trimmings "on the house." In addition, his fees—if he is a visitor—and his caddy fees will be refunded.

"We feel that the player who does a hole in one deserves his reward," said Major W. H. Hodgson, secretary of the club. "The last time that happened on this course it cost the players $55. It was the 18th hole, which measures 265 yards, and naturally a good deal of interest was caused."

Secretaries of other clubs have voiced their general approval of the scheme which is likely to become general.

Motor Firm Buys Horses

Foundry Employees Work On Farm During Slack Periods

A new idea in industry was brought to light recently with the announcement a factory making automobile parts was buying horses. The Holmes Foundry Co., Ltd., a manufacturer of automobile cylinders at Sarnia, Ont., purchased three head of Percheron horses for a total of $5,000.

L. G. Blunt, president, explained the horses were used on vegetable farms owned by the firm. His industry was seasonal, he said, and during the off-season his men went out on the farm and grew all types of vegetables. As a result their off time was put into profitable use.

The men were not put for their farm work, but the total produce was divided among the number of employees. The company footing the bill for land, seed, implements, and horses.

The reason for this, he said, lay in the fact his industry demanded skilled workmen. If all employees were laid off when the slack season came it would cost a tremendous amount of money to retrain them again.

In this manner, he said, all employees are kept busy and all are available immediately they are needed. This avoids closing down the plant when the public demand for automobile cylinders slackens.

Views Prize Cattle

Lord Tweedsmuir Was Interested In Royal Winter Fair Exhibits

A governor-general in blue serge suit and black fedora looked over with critical eye the livestock product of a prince's ranch, brought east from the Alberta foothills to adorn the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto.

Lord Tweedsmuir dropped into the fair with his son, Hon. Alastair Buchan, and had a look at Bapton Orator—otherwise the pride of Pekisko Creek—from the Prince of Wales. The E. P. bull, winner in the two-year-old Shorthorn competition, was brought from his stall for the governor-general to look at, but was good-natured about it.

Lord Tweedsmuir also examined the University of Alberta cattle, and was much interested in the grand champion cattle shown by Waldo Skinner, Senneterre, Que., and Mount Victoria Farms, Hudson Heights, Que.

The governor-general said he would "very much like to see the hogs," and followed them up with sheep and dogs. There's a Cotswold sheep, a thing you don't often see in the Cotswolds now," he remarked at one stage.

Earlier, His Excellency visited the blind display shop and bought a tray after watching the blind handicraftsmen and women at work.

School At Scotland Yard

Police Teach Methods To Representatives From Other Countries

Scotland Yard is teaching the world how to go about its police work. There are few countries that have not sent representatives to learn from the Metropolitan Police. Among the next batch of "pupils" will be detectives from New Zealand. Police officers have come from Newfoundland, Hong Kong, Singapore, Canada, Australia, France, Spain, Germany, and other Continental countries to glean much from our methods.

Superintendent Batley, chief of the fingerprint department, is going to lecture to "pupils" on his subject. Chief Inspector Rowe will demonstrate the Criminal Records Office. The wireless cars and broadcasting methods of the "Yard" will be explained by the Radio Chief, Chief Constable Best. Sir Bernard Spilsbury will give lectures on poisons.

Dr. Roche Lynch, of the Home Office, will teach his own subject. The value of scientific research—the examination of bullets, cartridges, and clothing—will be shown by Dr. Davidson, chief of the Crime Laboratory at Hendon. Finally, there will be special lectures on crime detection by Chief Constable Howard and Superintendent Hambrook of the C.I.D.—Overseas Daily Mail.

And soon with me the labor will be wrought;

Then grows my heart to other hearts more tender.

The time is short.

You who are letting miserable misunderstandings run on from year to year, meaning to clear them up some day; you who are keeping wretched quarrels alive because you cannot make up your mind that this is the day to sacrifice your pride and kill them; you who are peering men sullenly on the street, not speaking to them out of some silly spite, and yet knowing it would fill you with remorse if you heard that one of them were dead tomorrow morning; you who are letting your neighbor starve till you hear he is dying of starvation, or letting your friend's heart ache for a word of appreciation or sympathy which you mean to give him some day—if you could only know and see all of a sudden that the time is short, how it would break the spell. How you would go and do instantly that which you might never have another chance to do.

Local News

A very quiet wedding was solemnized at the United church minge, Bellevue, on Saturday afternoon, when Mary, eldest daughter of Mrs. Watson, was united in marriage to Mr. Jerry Clarke of Coleman. After a dainty supper at the home of the bride's mother, the happy couple left for Coleman where Mr. Clarke is employed.—Enterprise

Mrs. G. R. Powell arrived last week to visit her husband for awhile. During the past year she has been residing with her daughter in Brandon, and visited her son Ross in Calgary immediately prior to coming to Coleman. Mr. and Mrs. Powell are residing at the Grand Union hotel.

Here's the cheapest paper on earth, edited by Bobby Brown with Ronald Jones as manager. Price, two safety pins a week. An advert. in it costs one safety pin. Office of publication, a cabin in the woods. Ronald wants to be a real printer, so has applied for a job at The Journal as an apprentice.

"A business is like a wheelbarrow. It won't go unless it is pushed."
